

About Pantheon Macroeconomics

Pantheon Macroeconomics aims to be the premier provider of unbiased, independent economic intelligence to financial market professionals around the world. Our work focuses on the United States, the Eurozone (plus Switzerland), the U.K., Latin America, Emerging Asia and China+ (China, Japan and Korea) but we also draw on long experience to assess and forecast the impact of global economic and market developments.

We provide actionable intelligence in our research, which is published daily and is available by subscription only. Our clients appreciate our candor and rigor, and our willingness to take non-consensus views when our analysis leads us away from the herd. Pantheon's clients include banks, hedge funds, family offices, pension funds, corporate treasuries and strategists, central banks, and investors in property and other assets.

Our Chief Economist, Ian Shepherdson, is a double winner of the Wall Street Journal's annual U.S. economic forecasting competition. He has over 30 years' experience in both independent and institutional macroeconomic research, and has lived and worked in the United States and Britain. His research is direct, clear and free of economic jargon, but firmly grounded in his analysis of the data.

Pantheon's growing team of experienced, award-winning economists from diverse backgrounds offer clients usable insights every day. We don't trade or manage money, so our research is free from conflict. We always say what we think.

Why choose Pantheon?

Pantheon Macroeconomics is an independent provider of economic research. Away from the chatter and speculation of the Street and other economists, we concentrate on the numbers, and express our views without bias or agenda. We have over 350 clients around the world and we offer research packages to suit each of our clients' individual needs.

Products & Services

We offer three core products for each of the regions we cover:

Economic Monitors

Daily or weekly (depending on subscription package) clients receive a PDF report, providing forward-looking analysis of the economy and markets.

Datanotes

Our Datanotes offer short, punchy analysis of major economic data, emailed within a few minutes of their release. Our objective is to give clients the story behind the headlines, and to put the numbers into context. We look for the quirks, the underlying story and the implications for policy and markets.

Chartbooks

Our monthly Chartbooks tell the economic story in roughly 40 charts, assessing the outlook for consumption, capital spending, exports, inflation, the public finances and monetary policy. A detailed numerical forecast table is also included.

Other Services

Webinars

Our economists also offer webinars open to all readers several times per year. We set out our core views, accompanied by a downloadable chart pack, before taking questions from clients.

Global Monitor

Our weekly Global Economic Monitor provides a curated selection of our best, most provocative essays from the previous week, for each of the regions we cover. It also includes our macro forecasts for the next two years, and a weekly calendar of the key economic data releases and events.
